ITEM[Revision of the notification and authorization form]
TXT[The revised form was in keeping with the concerns expressed by many delegations, particularly the Iraqi Government and the Jordanian Prime Minister concerning the slowness of the procedure for considering requests. The draft form drawn up by the Secretariat was based on the form used successfully by the Committee on sanctions against Yugoslavia. It was a single page and the Secretariat would have only to fill in the date and communication number, rather than draw up a new document for distribution. The revised form would therefore facilitate and speed up work.]

ITEM[Revision of the notification and authorization form]
TXT[While his delegation was satisfied with the new draft form, it wished to make two comments. First, he proposed eliminating the practice of attaching the official note to each request since the forms had, in any event, to be signed by a representative of the Permanent Mission or international organization in question. Second, his delegation was concerned that in item 4 of the revised form, it was necessary to specify the issuing bank and date of payment if the method of payment selected was a letter of credit. Since prior authorization by the Committee was necessary for all exports of goods or services to Iraq, most communications would deal not with a contract strictly speaking, but rather with a planned transaction. During that initial phase of negotiations, the conditions for payment were not yet necessarily known. Requiring such detailed information might create difficulties for companies that wished to trade legitimately with Iraq.]

TXT[Although his delegation in principle favoured the new form, it wished to make several proposals for the sake of simplicity and clarity. He agreed with the Brazilian delegation with regard to the questions in parentheses in item 4. With respect to item 5, shipping arrangements, he felt that the new form seemed a bit too complicated and that the Committee should consider going back to the earlier wording. Furthermore, he asked whether it was absolutely necessary to include the Mission reference number in connection with the date of submission since it was easy to verify the authenticity of requests submitted by a given delegation. Lastly, the note at the bottom of the form seemed a bit too categorical and he would perhaps prefer putting that sentence in an annex to the circular to be sent to missions in order to inform them of the introduction of the new form.]

ITEM[Revision of the notification and authorization form]
TXT[The consideration of requests took up far too much time and the Committee should be guided by the methods used by the Committee on sanctions against Yugoslavia, which seemed to carry out its work much more efficiently. His delegation had nothing against the form submitted by the Secretariat. While he considered that the total value and value per unit of the contract should be indicated, he also shared the view expressed by the representative of Brazil since, if a Mission was obliged to provide at the outset overly precise information on the method of payment and the issuing bank, it might have to change those financial details subsequently, which would oblige the Committee to reconsider the request or ask for further information and would considerably slow down the consideration process.]
